1. Write a précis of the following passage in about one third of its original length: (10×1=10)

The cinema is an outstanding wonder of this modern age. Apart from the great pleasure it gives us as a means of entertainment, it is in many ways an education itself, and no regular patron of the cinema can be called illiterate. The cinema is also a very valuable asset to educationists. The film companies, from time to time, produce historical pictures and their pictures are of great importance to the teacher of history. A couple of hours spent in viewing some of historical personages dressed in the proper dress of that period can gain a much better idea of the play than a whole week's browsing in a history text book. Even some of Shakespeare's dramas and comedies have been filmed and we thereby gain a much better idea of the play than would be possible from a casual reading of it.

But of the far greater importance is the use of the film in the teaching of science and industry. There are educational film companies which devote their time to the filming of the habits and customs of animals, insects, fishes, germs and numerous other branches of scientific life. We can see the hatching of the egg of fish and their gradual development into large fishes; we can watch the unceasing activity of many kinds of germs and their effect on water, milk or blood. We can watch the opening and closing of flowers and leaves and the growth of grass and weeds. All these actions and movements are greatly magnified on the screen. Such pictures are intensely interesting and are a great help to the cause of education.

Direction (Question Nos. 3 - 6) : Read the following passage carefully and answer the questions that follow :

In his post Kargil article, captioned, “Why was China neutral during Kargil action?” Mr. M.S.N. Menon thus summed up the whole situation :

“Pakistan had hopes that China would help it to internationalise the Kashmir issue. For this Pakistan first of all needed the blessings of Washington, which was wanting. What is more, the ‘special relations’ which existed between the two was a thing of the past. The West is rather disillusioned with Pakistan. This has to do with the growing Islamic fundamentalism and terrorism, and the role of terrorists like Osama bin Laden. To this is to be added Pakistan’s nuclear ambition and its readiness to use blackmail. And of course, the Kargil adventure, which was the last straw. Intrusion of Pak soldiers into India and the plot to cut off Ladakh and Kashmir valley from India were the worst forms of adventurism, especially when both India and Pakistan are nuclear armed. It was Pakistan’s calculation that it could get away with a fait accompli because India is already committed to not using the nuclear weapon first.

Pakistan’s gamble created a global antipathy against it. It truly isolated Pakistan from the world community. This is one reason why neither Beijing nor Washington was willing to internationalise the Kashmir issue. Even the Organisation of Islamic Conference was not ready to support Pakistan in this venture.
